

Las Vegas Law Firm Moves Headquarters

Bailey Kennedy

Las Vegas law firm Bailey Kennedy, formerly Bailey Merrill, is moving its headquarters to a new 13,000 square foot building in Southwest Las Vegas. The building will house Bailey Kennedy's 22 staff members with room for future growth.

Located at 8984 Spanish Ridge Avenue near the I-215 Beltway and Russell Road, Bailey Kennedy's new office was designed by JMA Architecture and built by Glen, Smith & Glen Development.

Attorney John Bailey founded Bailey Kennedy in 2001 as John R. Bailey, Attorney at Law. Bailey is a well-known business litigator and the former chairman of the Nevada State Athletic Commission. The company became Bailey Merrill in 2004 with the addition of its first shareholder, David Merrill. Since then the firm has added three additional shareholders and five attorneys. It became Bailey Kennedy in 2007 to recognize the work of shareholder Dennis Kennedy.

"Dennis Kennedy is one of the best litigators in Nevada and actually trained every attorney in our company, including myself," said Bailey. "Our new name is meant to show our collective respect for Dennis' work."

Kennedy served as associate and shareholder at Lionel, Sawyer & Collins from 1975 to 2006, when he joined Bailey's firm. He represents a wide range of health care providers and practices primarily in general commercial litigation. Kennedy has been listed in the prestigious "Best Lawyers In America" for several years. He is also an author and frequent speaker in the areas of health care law and legal ethics.

"It was a major decision to change our company name, but we thought it was the right thing to do," said Merrill. "We want to reflect the talent and depth of experience we provide each and every one of our clients. Our new name not only honors the work of one of Nevada's greatest litigators, but it also shows his influence on every attorney within our company."

Bailey Kennedy's dynamic team of professionals represents, among others, top healthcare facilities, publicly traded corporations, gaming companies, financial institutions, travel and tourism leaders, public entities, real estate developers, sports and entertainment concerns, and entrepreneurs. With experience in administrative, transactional, and litigation arenas, the firm is quickly building its reputation in the community.
